The Women at the Helm conference was a good experience. I left the conference in better condition than when I arrived. I now have a better understanding of the challenges women face in the workplace. Men not only need to recognize the good qualities that so many women have but make an effort to include them on their leadership teams. This will help the cause of gender equality. Keep up the good work Dr. Darlene!

Dr. Darlene- Thank you for putting together an inspirational and informative event. I very much enjoyed the talks and the openness that each speaker left us with to further process. I'm so glad that we could be a part of your vision. You really are awesome! Thank You Again.

The Women at the Helm conference was a guide to living a more fulfilled professional life, and it provided strategies for career and business growth. I also learned a male mentor may be necessary to equip you with additional tools to chart your career course more quickly. These strategies will be shared with my staff members.
